

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

The lack of the annoying ring of my telephone every evening at supper time has definitely made a positive impact on me and my family. I used to receive at least 5 calls a week from telemarketers and now I might receive 1 every 3 weeks! This is great! If I want to purchase their product I will call them. I feel that it's my choice whether to receive these annoying phone calls or not. If this is taken away then you have taken away my freedom of choice.
